Was muss man über eure
Arbeit wissen, das man
von aussen nicht sieht?

A close-up photograph of a large, dark brown log being processed by a sawmill. The log is positioned horizontally, and a green laser line is visible on its surface. The sawmill's metal frame and components are visible in the background, with a 'Primultini' label on the right side. The scene is set outdoors, with a blurred background showing a body of water and distant buildings.
